

Water Extractivism in Palestine

Marianne Comfort; Institute Justice Team

Lina Fattom recently spoke with Mercy Global Action and the rest of the UN Extractivism Working Group regarding women's struggles in Palestine, especially as they relate to water access and extractivism. The video can be viewed by clicking here.

Lina Fattom is a Palestinian human rights lawyer who trained in the U.S. and specializes in public and private international law and corporate litigation, as well as cross-border arbitration and negotiations. She recently served as director of the Innovative Private Sector Development Project, formerly served as a legal advisor to the Palestinian negotiating team, and previously worked as a human rights attorney with Amnesty International, an advisor with Al-Haq to the Norwegian Refugee Council and Oxfam, and manager of the Diaconia IHL Center in Jerusalem. She currently serves as a director on the board of PALTEL and directs projects to develop enterprises in Gaza and the West Bank.
